deuteronomy 30:19-20 (the inclusive bible)

i call heaven and earth to witness against you today: i set before you life or death, blessing or curse. choose life, then, so that you and your descendants may live, by loving yhwh, your god, by obeying god’s voice and by clinging to yhwh. for that will mean life for you, a long life in the land which god swore to give to your descendants sarah and abraham, rebecca and isaac, and leah and rachel and jacob.

luke 6: 1-5 (the inclusive bible)

one sabbath, jesus was walking through the grain fields. the disciples were picking heads of grain, rubbing them with their hands and eating them. some of the pharisees asked, “why are you doing what is prohibited on the sabbath?” jesus said, “haven’t you read what david did when he and his companions were hungry— how he entered the house of god and took the consecrated bread and ate it and gave the rest to the others, loaves which only the priests are allowed to eat?” then jesus said to them, “the ‘human one’ is ruler over the sabbath.”

benediction

our task is ended.
so, go in pieces.

old ideas upended,
certainty is transcended
as something new is mended.

and in our unraveling
we are traveling,
together,
into something larger,
of which all are a part,
to welcome the confusion
expose the illusion
and find the place of meeting again,
for the first time.

so... go in pieces
to see and feel and
share the world, anew!
(o'touma/mcdermott)

the bible - a collection of letters, histories, stories, wisdom, and poetry that's inspired extreme violence and division for centuries as well as inspired great acts of justice, love, and mercy. how can such a divergent reality come from the same book?

this short series will explore the bible in ways to help you in your own understanding of it as well as your day to day living!
