the welcome candle

come, come, whoever you are - wanderer, worshiper, lover of leaving; come, even you have broken your vows a thousand times!
come, yet again!

gift of story

read by jay anthis

selected verses from joshua 4

the people of israel did exactly as joshua commanded: they took twelve stones from the middle of the jordan—a stone for each of the twelve tribes, just as god had instructed joshua—carried them across with them to the camp, and set them down there. joshua set up the twelve stones taken from the middle of the jordan that had marked the place where the priests who carried the chest of the covenant had stood.

and then he told the people of israel, “in the days to come, when your children ask their fathers, ‘what are these stones doing here?’ tell your children this: ‘israel crossed over this jordan on dry ground.’”

from amos 5:15

thoughts for further reflection

progress is never permanent, will always be threatened, must be redoubled, restated and reimagined if it is to survive. - zadie smith

...a conceptual turn ..., after which the question can no longer be "what can i expect from life?" but can now only be "what does life expect of me? - victor frankl

...pessimism functions largely to protect the pessimists from any inner demand to do something - erich fromm

*we've got to be as clear-headed about human beings as possible, because we are still each other's only hope.
- james baldwin*
